Civic Nominations.

In the annual civic nominations held in the Town hall on Monday, very little change was made in the Town's governing body of officials. Mr L. Wight was the only nomination for Mayor and he was declared re-elected for another 2 year term. There was but one change in the Council, in that Mr Gustave Zucht was elected to the place made vacant by the resignation of Lawrence Zilliox. The Council now consists of A E Michael, Dr R Oatway, Hy Oppertshauser, R Brooks Gus Zucht and Hy Miller.

Fathers and Sons

From either the contemplation of abstract phases of life, or the din and bustle of ordinary affairs, it is refreshing to turn to an occasion of robust, red-blooded companionship such as is called forth by the association of fathers and sons in the annual observance of Father and Son Week.

There is much philosophizing on the Brotherhood of Man, much dogmatizing on the Fatherhood of God, but all is meaningless without a proper appreciation of the vital relationship between the individual father and the individual son.

No more congenial field for development can be given a boy in which he may discover the true relationships which should exist in life than in the atmosphere of an understanding father's influence. And what matters of vast import in a very few years' time depend on the impressions obtained in early youth!

A long strifle has been made from the days when the old wooshed interview was about the only occasion on which a father became intimate with his son and summed up the then acknowledged position of the father as judge and disciplinarian, and that only, with scarce a thought more devoted to the boy's welfare than to see he was home when required and out of sight the rest of the time. We are thankful that today we can point to the fellowship of father and son in contacts running throughout all the family activities, in any interests of the community and reaching out to things Provincial and even Dominion-wide.

To what may we attribute this change? In a large measure it is due to keener appreciation of all the aptness and truth of the poet's statement that "the boy is father to the man." The fathers realize it in the winged passage of time, daily clipping the opportunities for them to prepare and inspire their lads to greater things than they themselves have done and in the urgency of fulfilling their privileged duty of leading out their boys toward a truer sense of values.

The sons recognize it in the urge to look beyond the present to that dim time which forever beckons to youth—the time of the realization of their powers and possibilities. And the sense of his not long to be delayed responsibility throws him back to glean hungrily those truths which companionship with a mature mind might give him. And in the impact of this seeking for the best in each, the father meets the son not merely as a progenitor, but as the sympathetic counsellor and guide, and the son realizes he is not only the male offspring of this man but is of the fibre of his very heart and soul and holds at his disposal the best of which the father is capable.

So, with the thought of the need, the place and purpose of this high relationship between Father and Son, the C.S.E.T. movement has made a very definite place for its development. During the month of February a week is set aside in which to foster the fellowship of Fathers and Sons. To many fathers this time is a time of real reconsecration to the biggest job of their lives—that of upbuilding and outfolding the life of a boy, and to the boys come a realization that, though often preoccupied with business cares, Father has their best interests at heart, and a renewed trust is awakened and strengthened in the vitality of all the relationships of the home, and this finds expression in the more faithful performances of their obligations to the home.

Not only are home relationships emphasized, but also Christian fellowship in the Church. That line in Longfellow depicting the village blacksmith going on Sunday to Church and sitting amongst his boys carries a punch mightier than that delivered by the smith's muscled arms and hands on the red hot metal at the anvil. It is the unanswerable argument with those who would have you "do as I say, not do as I do."

Not only are public opportunities provided for in Church service and banquet for expression and development between Fathers and Sons, but encouragement is given to the more personal and private interchange of thoughts and ideas by means of hikes and home nights. These are golden grounds affording priceless opportunities to each participant to make his contribution to that happy estate of perfect understanding between both.

Much might be said of the details of the programme of activities during Father and Son Week. Suffice it to say that, while emphasis is laid on recognition of Fatherhood and Sonship and all they involve during the short period of one week, this is to be taken only as an indication of the necessity and worthwhileness of an understanding between Fathers and Sons based on sympathetic fellowship with and deep respect to each other the whole year round, and from this achievement of the soul will flow out a real spirit of brotherhood, embracing the height, breadth and depth of all human relationships, breathing good-will to man and honor to man's Maker.

ANAEMIA SHOWS IN VARYING SYMPTOMS

Pains and Aches Disappear When the Blood is Built Up

When the blood is thin every organ of the body suffers. So anaemia shows in indigestion, nervousness and headaches as well as in loss of color and strength. Many symptoms develop which to the patient suggest widely different diseases and so cause much needless apprehension. The quickness with which a supply of rich red blood will drive away all these pains and aches is shown by the result of treatment with such a reliable blood-building tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The value of this medicine is fully proved by the experience of Miss Alice Sandberg, Ogema, Sask., who says:—"I can speak with the highest praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for to this medicine I owe my present good health. Last winter I became run-down, was pale and sickly looking. My back ached and I had severe pains in the stomach. At times my head ached and I would feel dizzy. I tried various medicines but they did not help me. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I can scarcely say how glad I am that I acted on this advice. I had not been taking the pills very long when I felt a change for the better. Day by day I became stronger. The headaches, backaches, stomach troubles and dizziness disappeared and I was again enjoying good health. You may be sure I shall ever have a good word to say for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you need a blood-building tonic begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to-day. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Three Directors Issue Statement In Connection With Elevator Policy

Three directors of the Manitoba Wheat Pool, W. G. Weir, C. S. Stevenson and A. J. M. Poole issued a statement in connection with a statement of elevator policy recently made by Colin H. Burnell, president of the pool, and published in the Free Press of Jan. 13. The statement in part is as follows:

"The Free press of Jan. 13 contained a statement from Mr. Burnell carrying the heading, 'Pool Will Again Seek to Acquire Elevators.'

"This statement was issued without consultation with the board of directors of the Manitoba pool, and without authority from them.

"As three members of the Manitoba pool board, our efforts for over two months have been directed to attempting to get the boards of the pool and the U.G.G. together to discuss frankly any differences of opinion that may exist.

"We believe more can be done in this way than by the boards staying apart and each in their own meetings evolving plans to put up to the other."

Canadian Banks In Better Position To Serve Public

One of the most complete and authoritative statements ever submitted regarding the Canadian banking system and the present banking situation was made by C. E. Neill, General Manager of The Royal Bank of Canada, at the annual meeting. Mr. Neill said in part:

"Through amalgamation, the number of banks in Canada has been slowly reduced until the present situation is analogous to the condition existing in Great Britain, where the great bulk of the banking assets of the country is in the hands of five large banks. Fears have been expressed that the concentration of banking power in the hands of a comparatively few institutions may lead to bad results, such as slackening of competition or neglect of local interests. The feeling in regard to competition seems to have had its inception in the fear of what may happen in the future, rather than as a result of developments to date, for no one can say that the competition between banks is less severe than it has been in the past. We believe that the contrary is the case, and that a large proportion of the savings affected through amalgamations have been passed on to the public in the form of increased service and relatively lower charges.

"The merits of branch banking as compared with a system of unit banks are a subject of debate in the United States today, and opponents of branch banking have stressed the advantage to local interests of having their banking business in the hands of local institutions, which are claimed to be more intimately in touch with conditions at the points concerned. For Canada, however, the arguments in favor of branch banking are, in my opinion, immeasurably stronger than anything which can be said on the other side. In the development of new districts in this country the necessary funds have been supplied from older districts, and at much lower average rates than those current in the United States at the same relative stage of development. The banking history of the United States, moreover, contains a long list of banks which have failed, either through lack of proper perspective during boom periods, or because in districts where everything depends on the success of one crop or one industry, the local banks had all their eggs in one basket. I have no hesitation in saying that had Western Canada been served by unit banks the situation in 1921-22 would have been nothing short of calamitous.

"A great financial institution such as The Royal Bank of Canada, covering the whole country, must have intimate, persistent and active interest in every part of Canada. We have responsibilities not only to our shareholders, but, to a degree which I hope we fully realize, to the public of Canada; in fact, there is no conflict of interest, because it is only to the extent that we contribute to the sound economic development of the country that we shall deserve or receive the confidence of the public. Self-interest will prompt us to secure a diversity of risk through the encouragement of the industries indigenous to the various parts of our country, and to keep always before us the fact that we can achieve the greatest measure of success only if our actions and policies promote and foster the best interests of every part of Canada."

Very Gratifying Success Is Achieved By British Settlers Coming Under Assisted Scheme

It has been said that one of the factors which might become an active stimulant to British immigration to Canada in 1926 and the years following would be the satisfaction and success achieved by those British families moved to the Dominion in the course of the present year to be settled on farms under the assisted scheme of the Canadian Government. Through the terms of the Overseas Settlement Act, the Imperial and Canadian Governments entered into an agreement whereby three thousand families in the British Isles would be assisted on to Canadian farms. The colonists were to be provided on arrival with a farm which they would make their domicile, and this stocked with cattle, poultry and machinery, the price of these to be repayable by the settler in twenty-five equal yearly payments, with interest at five per cnt., no payment being asked until at least a year after settlement.

The scheme came into operation in 1925. Only families were accepted which, after careful investigation, were approved as suitable by the emigration agents of the Canadian Government. Farm homes were prepared for their occupancy before their arrival. No family, however, was permitted to operate a farm immediately upon arrival. Canadian experience, it was recognied, must be gained, and lands were leased to neighboring farmers for the current year, reserving for the new family, housing, stables, garden and pasture. The farmer of the family and children of an age to work were directed to employment in the immediate vicinity. The first families accepted under the scheme sailed for Canada in March, 1925, and altogether during the first year approximately 500 families, numbering nearly 2,500 people, have come to Canada under its provisions.

Some extensive publicity has been given in the Dominion to the success of the wife of one of these British settlers who, after only four months' residence on the farm in Canada, secured all the first prizes for dairy products at the fair in a British Columbia town. In surveynig the general experiences of this first contingent of British settlers, however, this is found to be not exceptional, but rather indicative of what has been accomplished in the brief period. After arrival in Canada some twenty families expressed dissatisfaction, disinclination, or inability to proceed along the original lines under the scheme, and turned their attention to activities other than farming. Of the total, 428 families, or 85 per cent. of all those who sailed in 1925, have definitely expressed themselves as happy and satisfied, and glad that they moved.

A review of these simply narrated experiences, gathered together by the department of immigration and colonization, makes very gratifying reading to those who have found it a matter of deep regret that it has not been found possible in the post-war years to effect any great agricultural development in Canada along British lines. Such families as dropped out of the scheme, it was found, had not formed a proper conception of actual farm life in Canada. In several cases they did not realize that hard work was essential to success, or that a farm which could be purchased at a moderate price, with no payment down, with low interest, and at long terms, must necessarily be a modest establishment and not the highly developed place so frequently conceived as a typical Canadian farm home. The review, taken altogether, goes to show that every one of the British families which set out in the right spirit, actuated by a vision which permitted them to see the future result of present labors, has achieved an initial measure of success which is very gratifying to Canada and must be highly pleasing to themselves.

Disease of Modern Life

Naughtiness among children is the disease of civilized life, Dr. J. A. Hadfield told women sanitary inspectors at a meet in London. The speaker said his father had spent thirty years in the South Sea Islands without having ever heard any quarrelling among the native children.

Bran As Human Food

Liberal Supply Necessary is Opinion of U. S. Doctor

Some of our food specialists think the average diet would supply all the food elements needed for health and bodily vigor if it contained a little more milk. The special reason for increasing the allowance of milk is to supply more lime than the average man now gets. Dr. D. Breese Jones, of the United States department of agriculture, does not altogether agree. He advises a well chosen, varied diet, including more milk, more green vegetables, fruits and more cereals than is included in the diet of the average person."

By whole cereals he means cereals made from the whole berries of grains and including, therefore, a liberal supply of bran. If the bread one likes is poorer in bran than it ought to be, some of this food can be added to the cereal, either before cooking or before serving. Most of the report by Dr. Jones is based on his studies of bran.

He writes that rats can be kept alive and in fine condition for a year on a diet of bran alone. Bran is generally considered as a roughage and without food value. As a matter of fact, rats digest bran well. Perhaps cows and other ruminants digest it even better. It seems probable that man digests and assimilates bran, getting from it most of the food value aside from that incorporated in the cellulose. Furthermore, the proteins of bran are of the best quality.

Fine Flavored Cream

Absolute Cleanliness, Pure Water and Food is Necessary

In Bulletin No. 57 of the Dominion department of agriculture, Mr. W. F. Jones, chief of the division of dairy manufactures, gives the conditions that are necessary to produce fine flavored cream. First in importance is absolute cleanliness in which is included clean and pure water and food. Any dirtiness or impurity in either affects the cream. Cows should have free access to salt at all times. Cleanliness of the animals is not only imperative but also that of the milkers and of the utensils used. Galvanized pails, says Mr. Janes, are difficult to keep clean and bad flavors have been traced to their use. All utensils should be sterilized. Dairy tinware should be rinsed in lukewarm water, then washed in hot water containing a little washing soda, using a brush (not a cloth) on both the inside and outside. Following, scald thoroughly with boiling water and place the implements where they will drain and dry, preferably exposed to the sunshine. Use a new piece of cheese cloth for straining after each milking or wash the used cloth thoroughly, boil and dry quickly. The new type, our authority says, consisting of a combination of wire mesh and absorbent cotton strainers, lessens the danger of poor flavors.

Fish-Farming In Europe

Germany Goes In For This Industry On Large Scale

Great Britain is almost the only country where fish-farming is practically unknown.

It is true that there are excellent trout and salmon hatcheries, but these are run only for the sake of re-stocking waters for sport.

Germany goes in for eel-farming on a large scale, and befofe the war the Germans bought huge quantities of elvers, or young eels, in England. Epney, on the Severn, was their source of supply, and in four years they took seventeen million eel fry from this place to their own fish farms.

The most up-to-date eel farm in the world is at Nellsen, on the Danish island of Zealand, where an artificial lake of nearly five hundred acres has been formed and stocked with eels. Pumps have been set up to pump the salt water from the bay close by into the lake, and a special passage is arranged with fresh water flowing out of it to attract the elvers or young eels from the sea.

A genius is a fool who succeeds; a fool is a genius who fails.

Aid To Agricultural Industry

Forecast of Proposed Legislation in Speech From the Throne in Manitoba House

Legislation providing for special aid to the agricultural industry, a general pledge to encourage development of Manitoba's industrial and natural resources, creation of local government boards and curtailment of the horse racing season in the province, were outlined in the speech from the throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Aikens at the ceremonial opening of the fifth session of the seventeenth Legislature of Manitoba.

The agricultural aid schemes involves a survey of vacant lands of the province and encouraging of settlement upon such of these as can be economically developed. It is also proposed to utilise the provincial share of the Canadian wheat board surplus to work designed to promote more efficient marketing of farm products.

The throne speech further indicated steps would be taken to obtain railway facilities for the mineral belt of Northern Manitoba, while the introduction o fa bill to make provisions of the Dominion Industrial Disputes investigation Act of 1907 applicable to industrial disputes within the province was forecast. Reference was made to pulpwood development freight rates and satisfaction was expressed for the general improvement in the business outlook in Manitoba.

Percy Reed Receives Appointment

The resignation of E. T. Love, assistant secretary of the national dairy council, left a vacancy in the west, which has now been filled by the appointment of Percy Reed, of Regina, according to word received by L. A. Gibson, Manitoba dairy commissioner from D'Arcy Scott, secretary of the council. Mr. Reed was dairy commissioner for Saskatchewan up till last year, when he left to take a position with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries.

For First Time In History Weight Of World's Thinking Now For Peace Instead Of War

Why the Jog On Correction Lines?

A Fundamental Geographical Truth That the Earth is Spherical

Every western farmer, school teacher and student should be interested in the answer to the above question, for it emphasizes the fundamental geographical truth that the earth is spherical.

According to the topographical survey, department of the interior, Ottawa, all north and south township and section lines are theoretically meridians and therefore would meet at the north pole. From the base lines the meridional outlines of townships are surveyed 12 miles south and 12 miles north to the correction lines. Due to the convergence, the breadth of a township on the south side of a correction line is about 120 feet less and on the north side about 120 feet greater than at a base line. This gives a jog on the correction line of about 240 feet at the west side of range 1, or about 7,300 feet, that is over a mile, at a distance of 30 ranges from an initial meridian.

Townships are therefore not truly rectangular and it can be easily demonstrated that it is not practicable to fit rectangular townships on a spherical surface over an extended area such as the prairie provinces. Here is an opportunity for the school teacher to give an example of the practical use of the knowledge that the earth is spherical. And what better place is there to start teaching geography than at home with a knowledge of the sections and quarter sections, townships and ranges, etc.?

It's surprising how easy it is to get something you don't want.

CARRYING YOUR HOTEL WITH YOU

Had anyone conceived the idea one hundred years ago of taking a pleasure trip in a magic mansion where you carried along not merely your trunk, but also your home, it would have been considered by the world as the wild wanderings of an overwrought brain. Now we are living in an age of luxury. One day the impulsive wanderer is seized with the wanderlust and he walks into a magic mansion, bangs up his hat on the hall stand, put his stick in the rack, stows his things in the wardrobe, bundles his trunks into the basement, sits back in his easy chair with a newspaper in his hand, a lighted pipe in his mouth and says easily, "Well, I guess we'll go to Japan."

For a while the traveller walks around the house, plays golf and tennis in the sunshine, dines, talks, plays cards, listens to the radio, dances. Then, one bright morning he says, "Why, hello, here's Yokohama." From there he decides to go to New York, and so repeats the pleasant performance.

Modern travel is fantastic and daring, realizing the utmost in hotel comfort of London or Paris. The hotel trip described is made on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France which leaves Southampton on January 26 for New York. From the American metropolis the Empress of France leaves on its Mediterranean cruise on February 9 for seventy-eight days. The magic mansion will present its front door at Lisbon, Cadiz, Gibraltar, Algiers, Athens, Constantinople, Alexandria, Beyrout, Haifa, Palestine, Venice, Naples and many other of those sun-bathed, old-world places lapped by the blue waters of the Mediterranean.

It was related the other day in a special cablegram to The Herald from Oslo, Norway, that the Norwegian cabinet had voted to tear down all the fortresses that Norway had built along the Swedish border.

That is a sane example that ought to spread.

These symbols of enmity go down because enmity has passed out of the hearts of Swedes and Norwegians. They find that their old hatred was needless and foolish, and that they can live side by side as friends and both be much happier and far better off.

So, naturally, they do away with the worse than waste of these frowning fortresses, and in the same motion the Norwegian Government cuts its military budget by two million kroner.

That is only part of Europe, of course, and the fortresses to be razed are only a small proportion of those that still stand threateningly across international borders.

But new forts are not being built—for one reason because they have ceased to have much value, but for another and greater reason: that at last it can be said, for the first time in recorded history, that the weight of the world's thinking is toward peace instead of toward war. New forts are not being built, and some forts, at least, are being torn down. Every little of this is great news for a world that needs just this kind of news so much.

When Europe gets to the point where it can point to international boundaries like that between Canada and the United States, which winds its way three thousand miles over lakes and prairies and mountains with utterly no forts and battleships, or guns or guarding soldiers, there will be hope for the intelligence of mankind. —Duluth Herald.

Win World's Championship

Record of Canadian Birds in 1925 Egg-Laying Contest

A Canadian ten-bird pen won the world's championship in all official ten-bird contests held in 1925. Canadian birds also made the highest individual scores for the same period. These records were made in the British Columbia contest conducted at the Dominion experimental farm, Agassiz, B.C., under the Canadian national egg-laying contest rules.

The championship pen which is owned by J. H. Mufferd and Son, Milner, B.C., laid 2,863 eggs in 364 days.

The leading single bird is owned by the Dominion experimental farm at Agassiz, B.C., with a record of 332 eggs, while the second highest bird belongs to Farrington Bros., Central Park, B.C., with 331 in 364 days. Canada had 19 birds with records of 300 eggs or over in the 1925 contest, all of which have official records in the government laying contests.

The egg-laying contest was conducted throughout the world and the central experimental farm here announced the results after scores had been received from the other countries participating.

Wolfe's Prophecy

General Who Won Canada For the British Had Faith In Its Future

In view of the efforts being made to attract emigrants essential to the working out of Canada's industrial and political destiny, the following prophecy contained in a letter written by General Wolfe to his mother dated Louisbourg, August 11, 1758, might not be without interest: "This country (Canada) will some time hence be a vast empire; the seat of power and learning. Nature has refused them nothing, and there will grow a people out of our little spot, England, that will fill this vast space.—Mr. Wolfe-Alyward in the London Times.

JESUS HEALS AND SAVES A BLIND MAN

Golden Text: I am the light of the world: he that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. John 8.12.

Lesson: John 9.1-41.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 42.1-7.

The Text Explained and Illumined

The Question Concerning the Connection Between Blindness and Sin verses 1-3.—The Jews held that calamities were always the result of sin. Recall how insistently Job's friends tried to make him acknowledge some sin which was the cause of all his troubles. One day the disciples came upon a man who had been blind from his birth, sitting where beggars sat at the gate of the temple, and they questioned Jesus saying, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he should be born blind?" Their question implies that either the man was suffering for the sins of his parents or because he himself had sinned in some previous state of existence. The soul's pre-existence was the ancient Greek idea, and is the dream of the modern Hindu mystic.

In pointing out the absurdity of this question, Dr. W. J. Dawson adds: "Yet there is one thing not to be overlooked: It is the ineradicable moral instinct which leads men to connect penalty with wrong-doing. Let men say what they will, all men have a certain instinct that the Power which rules the universe is just; that moral cause and effect run through all the world; that no wrong-doing on the part of the humblest, committed in the most absolute secrecy, or covered by what seems the most complete effacement of time, can or does escape punishment."

Mrs. G. Fowler had Suffered for Six Months with Backache and Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Arthur, Ont. — (Special). — Mrs. Grace J. Fowler, a well-known resident here is very satisfied with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used several boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and found great relief in them," Mrs. Fowler states. "I have suffered with backache for six months. A friend of mine had told me about Dodd's Kidney Pills, so I decided to give them a trial. I have taken six boxes and the pain in my back and across my kidneys has all gone. I am very thankful to you."

Mrs. Fowler's troubles came from the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. They put them in shape to strain all the impurities out of the blood. Without pure blood there can be no good health. Insist on having Dodd's, the kidney pill your neighbours use.

Self-Poisoning Increasingly Common

Modern Living Habits Promote Self-Poisoning—Thousands are Victims

The average man or woman does not enjoy consistent good health. Loss of appetite, headaches, biliousness and a lack of enthusiasm for either work or play are constant complaints.

Scientists have ascertained that such a condition is usually caused by self-poisoning resulting from constipation.

Due to modern living habits, the natural secretion which promotes regular elimination by softening the bowel contents, is often deficient—especially among middle-aged people. The poison from waste matter remaining in the systems of people thus affected is the insidious enemy of good health.

Such people need Nujol, because Nujol softens the waste matter and permits thorough and regular bowel elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles. It helps Nature help you.

Ask your druggist for Nujol to-day—and remember, look for the name "Nujol" in red on both bottle label and package.

MARKETING PLAN OF CANADA WEST ROAD TO SUCCESS

Saskatoon.—Development of co-operative marketing entirely through the efforts of the producers as it is being done in Western Canada was characterized by Professor C. R. Fay, University of Toronto, speaking before the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers here, as the one means of building up a marketing organization that, from the standpoint of farmers, would give lasting results.

"The eyes of the world are upon Western Canada, wondering if this great economic venture will last," the speaker declared in his opening remarks. "Judging from what Mr. McPhail, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, has to say as to the methods of meeting the various problems that naturally arise in the development of such an undertaking, I believe that you can safely say that you are on the right road to success."

The speaker briefly traced the history of co-operative marketing in different countries of the world, including Denmark, Germany and England, where this system of disposing of farm produce had proven successful. He pointed out that in Western Canada, development was starting along similar lines.

"In Western Canada the improvement of marketing facilities for the farmers has been gradual and has always been more or less in the right direction," he said. "First we find that agricultural societies of different kinds were organized and their efforts were first directed toward improvement in shipping facilities, and a general improvement in conditions in marketing of grain, but the movement has spread and today we will find a general trend towards co-operation, by which it is hoped that the farmer will receive a reasonable margin of profit on his output.

Photograph Canada From Air

Topographical Survey Aid Air Force In Successful Work

Ottawa.—Through the closest co-operation of the Royal Air Force and the topographical survey department of the interior, 47,700 square miles of Canadian territory have been successfully photographed during the past season. This rapid progress, it is stated adds another milestone towards the successful application of aerial photography in a practical and economical way as an aid to the development of Canada's resources.

The operations were carried on in various parts of the country from air bases already established. The bulk of the work performed, however, was located in Manitoba and Western Ontario, where 37,700 square miles of forest and mineral areas were photographed.

In Ontario the Rideau Canal, Rideau Lakes and part of the Muskoka area were successfully photographed. The mapping of some 4,000 square miles were performed in the vicinity of the summer resort of Minaki and the mineral district of Red Lake, as part of the Manitoba operations. A section of The Pas districts and Hudson's Bay Railway were also photographed.

Further views were taken in Northern Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Congestion Becoming Serious

Interior Elevators Plugged As Result Of Embargo On Grain Shipments

Winnipeg.—Congestion of interior elevators as the result of the embargo on the shipment of grain to the head of the lakes and the Pacific coast has become serious, according to officials of the prairie wheat pools and the United Grain Growers, Limited.

They report that thousands of loaded cars are in the lake-head terminal yards. All the sidings between Winnipeg and Fort William are congested and filled with grain cars and with farmers still marketing grain every day, hundreds of interior elevators are plugged.

Until the all-rail movement of grain becomes greater, there will be no relief, these officers state.

It is reported that more than 10,000 cars are held up at sidings in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Sees Prosperous Times

Sir Henry Thornton Says All Signs Point to Revival of Business

Duluth, Minn.—All signs point to a promising trade revival and business prosperity in the United States and Canada during the coming years, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, told a gathering of more than 700 persons at the open forum luncheon of the local chamber of commerce here. Another successful crop, such as Canada enjoyed last fall, Sir Henry said, would make 1926 a banner year.

The Canadian railway chief gave his impression of conditions in Europe gleaned during his recent trip to England and France. Both these countries were rapidly recovering from the period of post-war depression, and the Dawes' plan, he said, has been favorably received everywhere in Europe.

Urges Empire Settlement

Prince of Wales Would Like to See More Emigration to Dominions

London.—Closer co-operation between Great Britain and the dominions in the matter of empire settlement was urged by the Prince of Wales speaking at the Australian-New Zealand luncheon club. The Prince said the great migratory stream must benefit both the over-populated Old Country and the dominions "with their vast virgin regions of possibilities." "I should like to see more well-to-do people settling on the land overseas as a definite career," the Prince stated.

A Challenge To The Rural School Trustees

Support of Every School Trustee Necessary to Keep the Schools Abreast of Ever-Changing Needs

In a recent address at Saskatoon, Rev. G. W. Kirby, of Calgary, stated that the children of rural Canada never had a square deal and are not getting a square deal today. In his opinion some of the trouble in the rural schools rests with the rural trustee.

What are the facts? Some rural schools are excellent, most of them are fairly good; in a number, conditions are unsatisfactory. The condition of the rural school reflects very largely the attitude of the local ratepayer. Where schools are not successful, you will find they are more interested in keeping down the taxes than educating the children and their idea of education is usually limited to the three R's. Naturally, they choose a trustee who will faithfully represent them and their views. The trustee has very little, if any, contact with trustees of other schools. The inspector calls at the school once or twice a year, but the trustee rarely sees him. His relation with the department of education is almost entirely by correspondence. It is not surprising, therefore, that all rural schools are not equally efficient. In what way, can these rural schools be brought to a high standard of efficiency? The work of the teacher and of the department alone cannot solve it. The hearty support and co-operation of every trustee is also necessary to keep the schools abreast of the ever-changing educational needs of the present day. The most important factor in obtaining this happy result is the school trustees' convention, where the trustee mixes with a thousand or more other trustees, engaged in a similar task and faced with like problems.

The next Saskatchewan school trustees' convention will meet in the City Hall, Regina, on February 17th, 18th and 19th. A splendid programme has been prepared that should prove both instructive and entertaining. Among the speakers expected are: C. A. Dunning, premier of Saskatchewan; Chief Justice Brown, K.B. Court of Saskatchewan; Professor G. W. Weir, University of Saskatchewan; Hon. S. J. Latta, minister of education; Ven. Archdeacon Davidson, and Dr. H. J. Snell, of Alberta. A special contribution in music is being made by the Regina College Conservatory of Music, and, as usual, a large part of the time will be devoted to discussion on resolutions. In the past these have usually been well in line with needed reforms in school administration and form a most important part of the convention work. Evidently the trustees at this convention will have a very busy and interesting three days.

RAILWAYS COME UP FOR DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa.—Canada's railway problem received some attention from speakers during the continued debate on the address in the House of Commons. W. F. MacLean, Conservative member for South York, advocated amalgamation of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. Unnecessary duplication of lines, with consequent waste of millions, would thus be eliminated, he said, and the new system would be equipped with a great steamship service operating on the two oceans. He told the house that the time had come to sink party feelings and get together to solve the railway problem. The railways, he believed, were willing to discuss a proposal for consolidation.

C. R. McIntosh, Liberal member for North Battleford, who preceded Mr. MacLean, emphasized the importance of the Hudson Bay Railway. It was a short route for Canadian products to the markets of the world he said. Parliament, he thought, should lose no time, once the government made provision for completing the road, in approving it.

From the Progressive seats, John Evans, member for Rosetown, Sask., called the tariff "a diabolical frame-up between manufacturers and politicians." He estimated that the Canadian people would lose $225,000,000 this year through the tariff.

Increase In Farm Products

Figures For Alberta Issued By Department of Agriculture

Edmonton. — Alberta's agricultural production for 1925 is valued at a total of $256,050,367, showing an increase of $40,617,997 over the total of $215,432,370 for 1924, according to figures just issued by the provincial department of agriculture.

A large share of this increase for the past year is accounted for by the greater value of grain crops produced in the province of 1925, stated H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture, in announcing these figures to the delegates to the convention of the Alberta Dairymen's Association here.

A total value of grain crops grown in the province in 1925 is placed at $149,599,914, as compared with $106,699,146 in 1924. Dairy products show a slight decrease of from $23,208,000 in 1924 to $23,002,000 in 1925, a feature which invariably accompanies a year of exceptionally good grain crops.

Reach Agreement On Debt

Easy Terms Accorded to Italy by Great Britain

London.—Great Britain and Italy have come to a settlement on the Italian war debt. A complete agreement has been reached, as evidenced by an official statement issued which reads:

"Count Volpi (Italian minister of finance) and Mr. Churchill (chancellor of the exchequer) have arrived at a complete agreement on the Italian debt to Great Britain. Formal signature of the funding agreement will take place tomorrow and the text will be available tomorrow evening."

As yet the exact terms of settlement are not known. It seems safe to assume, however, that the British taxpayer will be greatly disappointed, as it is understood that the terms Count Volpi obtained were even better than the terms granted to Italy by the United States.

It is believed that the main lines of the settlement provide for the payment of an annuity of 4,500,000 pounds sterling for 62 years, the annuity commencing forthwith, but possibly with some slight relaxation the first year. Italy renounces the interest on the 22,000,000 pounds sterling in gold deposited with the Bank of England.

Export Of Liquor To U. S.

Say Regulations and Treaty Obligations Are Being Strictly Observed

Ottawa. — Discussing the charges made at the meeting of the Ontario Prohibition Union in Toronto that liquor was being shipped from Canadian ports to the United States and that the Dominion customs officials were issuing regular clearance papers for such shipments, Hon. George H. Boivin, minister of customs, said that the department of customs was watching closely for any irregularities in the export of liquor.

The minister of customs pointed out that when a certificate is issued on a shipment bound for the United States, the designated United States customs officers are notified of the same.

Mr. Boivin declared that regulations were being enforced to the letter and all treaty obligations to the United States observed so far as the Dominion department of customs was concerned.

Prince's Horse Drops Dead

London.—The Prince of Wales' horse dropped dead under him while the Prince was hunting at Melton Mowbray, with the Belvoir Hounds.

The Prince had just cleared a fence and on landing his mount fell dead. The Prince fell on his side and sustained a slight bruise but otherwise appeared unhurt.

Humane Society Rewards C.P.R. Hero

In recognition of his heroic action when at great personal risk he rescued a lady from being crushed under a tramcar, Joseph Tammaro, clerk and stenographer in the Investigation Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been presented with a certificate of the Royal Canadian Humane Association in the offices of the department at Windsor Street.

The presentation was made by Brig.-General E. de B. Panet, chief of the department of investigation, who, in handing over the parchment to Mr. Tammaro, stated the whole department was proud to think he had so distinguished himself at the risk of his life for an entire stranger. It was a very gallant action and one that they all admired.

Mr. Tammaro, in reply, said he would not hesitate to repeat it if the occasion arose.

The accident occurred in July, 1923, on St. Catherine Street. A lady crossing the thoroughfare fell on the tramcar tracks as a car was approaching. The conductor had no time to pull up and she would have been run over but for the presence of mind of Mr. Tammaro who dragged her to safety at the cost of spraining his ankle.

SENATE URGES U.S. ENTRY INTO WORLD COURT

Washington.—Although the Senate has practically given the decision that the United States shall enter the World Court, the controversy over this question apparently is only beginning. There appears little likelihood that the resolution of adherence will receive the needed two-thirds majority and the reservations which would virtually nullify United States participation are expected to receive but little support.

Proponents of the League of Nations in the United States have already served notice that they intend to follow up entrance into the World Court by a campaign to force the country into the league.

This has aroused the opponents of entry into the World Court more than ever, and they are laying plans in the first place to force the withdrawal of the United States from the court and in the second place to nullify the campaign to get the country into the league.

Senators Borah, Reed of Missouri, and other active opponents of entry into the World Court will appeal to the country and between now and another session of Congress will doubtless have made many speeches with a view to arousing public sentiment.

Will Investigate Atmospheric Disturbances

Sun Spots Play Havoc With Electrical Communication

Winnipeg. — Atmospheric disturbances which have played havoc with electrical communication over a wide expanse of the Dominion during the past few days, will be a subject of investigation by a committee of Winnipeg scientists, electrical experts and other authorities. The committee will launch upon its task during the present week.

Violent disturbances have proved a great annoyance to radio fans since early last fall and according to scientists here the forces of interruption are traced directly to the sun.

"We already have proof here that sunlight interferes with radio transmission. Experiments have shown that the sun kills or weakens long waves and broadens short waves," D. P. R. Coates, superintendent of CKY broadcasting station of Winnipeg, declared in commenting on the recent disturbances.

Investigate Complaints About Canadian Apples

Fruit Not Tainted With Arsenic Says Department of Agriculture

Ottawa.—Canadian apples are not contaminated with arsenic.

Recent complaints that apples grown on this continent often carry a residue of the poisons contained in insecticides used for spraying during their growth has prompted the department of agriculture to make a rigid investigation.

"No trouble has ever arisen over this danger so far as anyone in Canada is aware, through such treatment of apples, and the department is doing all in its power to prevent it happening and anticipate possible trouble," Deputy Minister Dr. J. H. Grisdale stated.

It is understood here that the complaints arose because apples grown in some districts in the United States were said to have retained a quantity of arsenic residue of the Paris green spraying solution used in the orchards.

Sleigh Dog Chases Wolf

Port Arthur, Ont.—Mrs. R. Falshaw, Kaministiquia, got a thrilling ride when her sleigh canine, a German police dog, gave chase to a wolf, which had crossed his trail. Despite the fact that he was pulling Mrs. Falshaw and a load of provisions in a toboggan, the dog was winning the race when the wolf headed for the bush and disappeared.

Plate Depicts Discovery of Indian Sea Passage

A magnificent silver dish, twenty inches in diameter, presented by King Emmanuel of Portugal to the famous explorer Vasco da Gama in 1499 in recognition of the latter's discovery of the sea route to India, was recently on exhibition in the windows of the downtown offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway on St. James street. The dish is now owned by Rene Dupuis, graduate of the University of Nancy, France, a resident of Montreal.

The dish is circular with a wide border and is a beautiful specimen of the most exquisite repousse work of the celebrated European silversmiths. In the centre is admirably depicted in practically every detail the quaint old ship, the San Gabriel, which was Da Gama's flagship on his famous voyage to India.

Around the figure of the ship are striking impressions of wild beasts and flowers. On a raised border of silver around this vessel are two inscriptions, barely visible to the eye. The first reads "Emmanuel le Grand to Vasco de Gama, 1499". The second inscription is: "Marquis Niza da da Gama to M. Anne Duporral, Commandant du Cygne, 1846." The second inscription was placed there when the relic was given to Commandant Duporral for saving the life of the Marquis, a descendant of da Gama.

Vasco da Gama was called to the Portuguese court and given an expedition to discover a sea passage to the Indies. He was given the following instructions by his king, "Go south as far as there is water. And when you have reached the edge of the world, turn towards India which we know exists because we have made land journeys there." On July 8, 1497 a helmeted, powerful figure stood on board a vessel waving adieu to Lisbon. Determination was depicted in the powerful jaws. An iron will was evident in the steel-grey eyes. Every motion, every movement this mighty man made told of his high resolve to do as he had been commissioned by his king.

The San Gabriel rounded the Cape of Good Hope after da Gama had quelled a mutiny of his rebellious sailors, and reached the coast of Malabar, the south-west corner of India in May 1498. On September 1, 1499 the vessel sailed proudly into Lisbon to the accompaniment of loud shouts from the huge crowd assembled to greet her and the heroic commander. It was in that year that da Gama was awarded the historic silver dish by a grateful monarch as an expression of esteem and regard from an admiring court and a thankful nation.

Da Gama made another voyage to India in 1502, planting Portuguese colonies at Mozambique and other places, and return d in 1503 with a rich cargo. For this work he was awarded a title and appointed admiral of the Portuguese navy. Some twenty-one years later he made his last voyage to India. He fell ill on the way, died in Cochin, Indo-China, and was buried on the Malabar coast where he had cowed into submission a sullen crew of mutineers twenty-six years before. But the gallant admiral's friends would not let his body remain in foreign soil. So it was brought back to Portugal and buried in 1538 with all the honor and homage due a national hero.

It is interesting to note that a Canadian Pacific liner, the Empress of Scotland is at present sailing around India through the very waters which Vasco da Gama was the first European to traverse.

Expedition Discovers Ancient Dinosaur Eggs

Men Traversed Two Thousand Miles Over Unmapped Territory In Mongolia

Forty dinosaur eggs estimated to be ten million years old have been brought to San Francisco by the Roy Chapman-Andrews expedition to Mongolia. Mr. Andrews, when interviewed, confirmed the theory that all life originated in an Asiatic plateau now the Gobi Desert, from which the people of the earth migrated all over the world. The expedition, he said, traversed five thousand miles, two thousand of which were over unmapped territory. The expedition found the fossilized skull of a two-horned beast probably millions of years old.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

by James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, his beloved Nepeese, daughter of the trapper, gone, wandered alone over the trails, through the forests, everywhere he might find food for himself. At length he encountered the game-snares laid by McTaggart, the factor, and he stripped them systematically and feasted on the prey they yielded. McTaggart, missing his game, and suspecting the nearby footprints were those of the dog, his old enemy, started also a search for Baree.

It was the fifth day that Bush McTaggart returned to his post. He was in an ugly mood. Only Valence of the four Frenchmen was there, and after Valence had heard his story, and afterward heard him cursing Marie, she came into the store a little later, big-eyed and frightened, and of her cheeks flaming red where McTaggart had struck her. While the storekeeper was getting her the canned salmon McTaggart wanted for his dinner, Valence found the opportunity to whisper softly in her ear:

"M'sieu Lerue has trapped a silver fox," he said with low triumph. "He loves you, mon ami, and he will have a splendid catch by spring—and sends you this message from his cabin up on The Little Black Bear With No Tail: Be ready to fly when the soft snows come!"

Marie did not look at him, but she heard, and her eyes shone so like stars when the young storekeeper gave her the salmon that he said to Valence, when she had gone:

"Blue Death, but she is still beautiful at times, Valence!"

To which Valence nodded with an odd smile.

CHAPTER XXVI.

By the middle of January the war between Baree and Bush McTaggart had become more than an incident—more than a passing adventure to the beast, and more than an irritating happening to the man. It was, for the time, the elemental raison d'etre of their lives. Baree hung to the trap-line. He haunted it like a devastating spectre, and each time that he sniffed afresh the scent of the Factor from Lac Bain he was impressed still more strongly with the instinct that he was avenging himself upon a deadly enemy. Again and again he outwitted McTaggart; he continued to strip his traps of their bait; the humor grew in him more strongly to destroy the fur he came across; his greatest pleasure came to be—not in eating—but in destroying. The fires of his hatred burned fiercer as the weeks passed, until at last he would snap and tear with his long fangs at the snow where McTaggart's feet had passed. And all of the time, away back of his madness, there was a vision of Nepeese that continued to grow more and more clearly in his brain. That first Great Loneliness—the loneliness of the long days and longer nights of his waiting and seeking on the Gray Loon, oppressed him again as it had oppressed him in the early days of her loss. On starry or moonlit nights he set forth his wailing cries for her again, and Bush McTaggart, listening to them in the middle of the night, felt strange shivers run up his spine.

The man's hatred was different than the beast's, but perhaps even more implacable. With McTaggart it was not hatred alone. There was mixed with it an indefinable and superstitious fear, a thing he laughed at, a thing he cursed at, but which clung to him as surely as the scent of his trail clung to Baree's nose. Baree no longer stood for the animal alone; he stood for Nepeese. That was the thought that insisted in growing in McTaggart's ugly mind. Never a day passed now that he not think of the Willow; never a night came and went without a visioning of her face. He even fancied, on a certain night of storm, that he heard her voice out in the wailing of the wind—and less than a minute later he heard faintly a distant howl out in the forest. That night his heart was filled with a leaden dread. He shook himself. He smoked his pipe until the cabin was blue. He cursed Baree, and the storm—but there was no longer in him the bullying courage of old. He had not ceased to hate Baree; he still hated him as he had never hated a man, but he had an even greater reason now for wanting to kill him. It came to him first in his sleep, in a restless dream, and after that it lived, and lived—the thought that the spirit of Nepeese was guiding Baree in the ravaging of his trap-line!

It was in January that McTaggart caught his first glimpse of Baree. He had placed his rifle against a tree, and was a dozen feet away from it at the time. It was as if Baree knew, and had come to taunt him; for when the Factor suddenly looked up Baree was standing out clear from the dwarf spruce not twenty yards away from him, his white fangs gleaming and his eyes burning like coals. For a space McTaggart stared as if turned into stone. It was Baree. He recognized the white star, the white-tipped ear, and his heart thumped like a hammer in his breast. Very slowly he began to creep toward his rifle. His hand was reaching for it when like a flash Baree was gone.

This gave McTaggart his new idea. He blazed himself a fresh trail through the forests parallel with his trap-line but at least five hundred yards distant from it. Wherever a trap or deadfall was set this new trail struck sharply in, like the point of a V, so that he could approach his line unobserved. By this strategy he believed that in time he was sure of getting a shot at the dog. Again it was the man who was reasoning, and again it was the man who was defeated. The first day that McTaggart followed his new trail Baree also struck that trail. For a little while it puzzled him. Three times he cut back and forth between the old and the new trail. Then there was no doubt. The new trail was the fresh trail, and he followed in the footsteps of the Factor from Lac Bain. McTaggart did not know what was happening until his return trip, when he saw the story told in the snow. Baree had visited each trap, and without exception he had approached each time at the point of the inverted V. After a week of futile hunting, of lying in wait, of approaching at every point of the wind—a period during which McTaggart had twenty times cursed himself int ofits of madness, another idea came to him. It was like an inspiration, and so simple that it seemed almost inconceivable that he had not thought of it before.

He hurried back to Post Lac Bain.

The second day after he was on the trail at dawn. This time he carried a pack in which there were a dozen strong wolf traps freshly dipped in beaver oil, and a rabbit which he had snared the previous night. Now and then he looked anxiously at the sky. It was clear until late in the afternoon, when banks of dark clouds began rolling up from the east. Half an hour later a few flakes of snow began falling. McTaggart let one of these drop on the back of his mittened hand, and examined it closely. It was soft and downy, and he gave vent to his satisfaction. It was what he wanted. Before morning there would be six inches of freshly fallen snow covering the trails.

He stopped at the next trap-house and quickly set to work. First he threw away the poisoned bait in the "house" and replaced it with the rabbit. Then he began setting his wolf traps. Three of these he placed close to the "door" of the house, through which Baree would have to reach for the bait. The remaining nine he scattered at intervals of a foot or sixteen inches apart, so that when he was done a veritable cordon of traps guarded the house. He did not fasten the chains, but let them lay loose in the snow. If Baree got into one trap he would get into others and there would be no use of toggles. His work done, McTaggart hurried on through the thickening twilight of winter night to his shack. He was highly elated. This time there could be no such thing as failure. He had sprung every trap on his way from Lac Bain. In none of those traps would Baree find anything to eat until he came to the "nest" of twelve wolf traps.

CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minesing, Ontario.—"I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed, I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did who got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and have had splendid health ever since. When I feel any bearing-down pains I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my only medicine and I have told many a one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it." — Mrs. NEAL Bowman, R. R. 1, Minesing, Ontario.

Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition (or dis-ease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be the cause (they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the most prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour, vital strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings, and as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY, THERAPION No. 3 than by any other known combination. Sold only as it is taken in accordance with the directions accompanying it, with the blue and gold label entered THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH, and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, used up, and valueless. This wonderful medicament is suitable for all ages constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a disease or derangement whose main feature is weakness, that will not be speedily and permanently overcome by this recuperative essence, which is destined to sacrifice oblivion everything that had preceded it for the wide-spread & numerous class of human ailments.
